

THE FILM VERDICT

INTERNATIONAL OSCAR WEEK

27 NOVEMBER - 2 DECEMBER | SPOTLIGHT ON SHORTS - 26 NOVEMBER

A winning season with The Film Verdict

After three years of publishing over 1,500 reviews by top industry critics who care about international movie-making, the verdict is out — we're winning for you!

Unique in its focus and outreach, The Film Verdict has proven its worth as the new platform bringing filmmakers and their targeted audiences together around the world. And with more and more Academy voters living outside of L.A., New York and London, the global reach of the TFV Award Season & Oscar® package is more valuable than ever.

Producers and directors come first with us, which is why we are proposing the most comprehensive, competitive and rich Award Season package for the best value. We offer you the opportunity to screen your Award Season film online for voting members around the world to see; talent podcasts; interviews with filmmakers and other special features. Our International Oscar Week features a daily series focused on international feature film submissions, documentary films, animation, and for the first time, a special spotlight on short films.

Director Jonathan Glazer accepts the Academy Award® for Best International Feature Film for Zone of Interest.

TFV is the pioneer of full-length short film reviews for the industry, publishing some 100 reviews a year by our critic Ben Nicholson, who also directs the futuristic short-film Alpha Film Festival, a joint venture of TFV and the MILC metaverse.

This year we are introducing an entire special issue dedicated to short films in competition. We are ideally positioned to use our experience and understanding of shorts to promote them during awards season, just as our experts in feature films, animation and documentaries are unbeatable in helping your film emerge from the crowd.

The goal of TFV's innovative Award Season packages is your film's success!
